It might be a good idea to raise the percentage of the gate receipts of the teams that visit Richmond and Norfolk, so that they might take away more money when they play here. That, of course, would cut down the Richmond owner's profits, but it would seem better to cut down his profits reasonably than have the league break up because four of the clubs can't make the money.

league couldn't operate with nine clubs, and so there the matter stands.

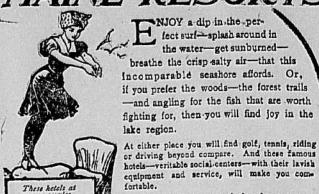

Ever since the change was made the writer has had the feeling that it was a shame to put Irvine into the left field when he is a rather promising catcher. He won't made a more than ordinary fielder, and he looked mighty good as a catcher before he went to the field.

Lynchburg finished strong in both games yesterday, winning the first by a hullabaloo in the pinth inning. Richmond bad got a run early in the game, and Verbout held them tight until the ninth. Then they landed on him, and two runs and the game came across. In the second game Lynchburg ralled in the ninth again, but Richmond had slipped two tallies across the plate, and Lynchburg's one run didn't figure worth a cent.

Wallace pulled out with two hits in the second game yesterday and one in the first.

Lynchburg, June 28.—Lynchburg and Richmond shared honors this afterneon in a double-headen, the Shoemakers getting the initial game and the Colts the other. Both were by scores of 2 to 1.

bad, for the Garrison finish was turned with a free pass, singles by the Emiths, and a squeeze with Heller at the bat. Both of the runs were gotten with the stick, for Hoffman, who walked, was forced out at third by Rowe. Arthur Smith's single scored Dick Smith and put Rowe on third to come in on the squeeze.

The run credited to the Colts in the first game was the result of a pass, followed by nice hits by Bigbie and Messitt.

In the second game there was a great pitchers' battle, in which Reveils got the best, for it was about the best game he has ever pitched here. He did not yield a hit till in the eighth, and would have scored a shut-out but for a low throw by Baker in the ninth on Rowe's scratch hit. Rowe beat the ball and went to second on the heave, to score on Arthur Smith's single to left.

The Colts started the scoring in this game, first with a pass to Timan, and Landgraff's sacrifice followed.

The Colts started the scoring in this game, first with a pass to Titman, and Landgraff's sacrifice followed. Woolums muffed Smith's throw for Bigbie, allowing Titman to go to third. When Bigbie started to steal Rowe made a short throw and Titman darted for home in the run-down for Bigbie. Sharp stopped and had Titman easy, but made a bad peg, allowing him to cross the plate. The other, and the winner, was the result of Wallace's long drive over centre for a triple, and Titman's drive to left.

Both games were well played, and both games were well played, and both games were won by the team both games were won by the team playing the best ball. The score:

One of the unhappy owners of the Portsmouth baseball club stated yesterday that there were three cities in which Portsmouth played so far this season where it did not lose money; that team broke even, as a general rule, in Norfolk and Portsmouth, and carried money away from Richmond.
